

Chortitza Mennonite Settlement Census for November 1815

State Archives of Dnipro Region (DADO)

Fond 134, Opis 1, Delo 427

Translation from Russian to German by Wilhelm Friesen, Museum Detmold, Germany, March 2019

Translation from German to English and Comments by Richard D. Thiessen, April 2020

The 1815 Chortitza Mennonite Settlement Census was finalized in November of that year. It is formatted in the typical Russian Revision List format, with all males listed on the left page and all females listed on the facing right page. This census was taken for tax purposes. The year of arrival in Russia is noted, which had implications for when a settler's period of tax exemption would terminate, and they would have to begin paying taxes. Whether or not an individual owned a Wirtschaft (a farm property) was also noted. If they didn't, it was noted that they had no property.

This census appears to have been compiled over a period of time, most likely from 1811, after a Revision List had been compiled, to 1815. It may very well have been a working document to be used for the planned Revision List of 1816. Several names have been crossed out in the original, and additional notations have been made. In this transcription, all names have been preserved along with notations.

The German translation by Wilhelm Friesen has preserved the original format of the document, includes all of the financial comments, and tracks the changes made in the document over the years that it was compiled. For example, it crosses out the names of people that were in the household at one time but have been reassigned to another household.

In this census nearly all male stepchildren and many female stepchildren are identified as such, and usually also by their surname, and nearly all maids and male servants or workers are also identified by not only their given name but by their surname as well. This is a departure from the various quarterly lists that we have for the Chortitza Mennonite Settlement and is thus a valuable source document for Mennonite genealogists.

There is an 1811 Revision column for all males but not for females. Also, any changes in the household that pertained to males are noted in a separate column. So, if a male was born or died, that year was noted. This was not done for females.

This census was written in Russian. Names have been standardized. The English translation has GRandMA numbers added in a separate column along with additional comments. This review raised some minor questions regarding the initial translation, and corrections were made from the German to the English. It is likely that not all corrections have been incorporated into the German translation.

GM is a reference to the Genealogical Registry and Database of Mennonite Ancestry, version 20-01, published by Mennonite Genealogy, Inc., in January 2020. Keep in mind that GM numbers can change for individuals, and future versions of GRandMA may very well have different numbers than those that appear here.

Both the English and the German translations reference the digital files for the original Russian language source documents.

Printing Note: This document is formatted for 8½ x 14 paper.
